

Birds of a Feather

A True Story of Being Lost and Finding Home

thebirdsofafeatherbook.com

Author and Artist: Lisa A. Craig

Ages: 4-8, young reader picture book

Format: 36 pages, full-color illustrations throughout, hardcover, 8"x8"

Price: $20.99 | ISBN: 978-1-930316-01-0

Order by September 21 to be included in my print run—I'm not currently planning a second one. Inventory arrives by end of October. Orders continue after September 21, filled from my available inventory until depleted; the book is also available through standard Ingram distribution beginning October, or once my inventory is gone. Ordering directly with me now guarantees inventory and fast, personal fulfillment from day one.

Two ducks. One river. A true story of belonging on the Eastern Shore.

THE STORY

Howard, a Pekin duck who can't fly, and Charlie, a mallard hand-raised after hatching alone, find each other—and a home—on the Tred Avon River. Their true story took place right here on Maryland's Eastern Shore, at a spot the author calls Mallards' Rest.

WHY IT'S A FIT FOR YOUR SHELVES

This is a hyperlocal title, set on the Tred Avon River in Talbot County—a genuine, ready-made connection for shops and customers throughout the Eastern Shore. It's also a true story, which gives it staying power beyond a typical picture book: parents and grandparents connect with real animals, a real place, and a story that actually happened nearby.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Lisa A. Craig has 25+ years in publishing, with Art Director roles at national and international consumer and trade magazines and over a decade running her own agency designing covers and jackets for 50+ book titles. She lives on the Tred Avon River on Maryland's Eastern Shore, where Howard and Charlie's story really happened, right outside her own door. Birds of a Feather is her first book as an author.

HOW TO ORDER

Terms: 40% off retail · outright sale (returns accepted in resellable condition) · Net 30, due November 30, 2026 · inventory arrives end of October

Place your order at thebirdsofafeatherbook.com/wholesaleorderform

Third Haven Press · Easton, Maryland
hello@thebirdsofafeatherbook.com